Medical & Educational
Worldwide Support

Western companies and consumers can close the purchasing gap that exist for the majority of people in development countries concerning essential needs: medical and educational.

CLOSING THE BUYING POWER GAP

4Another is an online global web service enabling people and organizations in developed countries to safely and securely guarantee payment for medical and educational aid for people living in developing countries. It closes the buying power gap for less haves with regard to first class health care and education.

4Another enables:

- Person to person care
- Sure and secure transactions
- Guarantees all payments for partners: hospitals, drugstores, schools
- An unprecedented first class service through our selected first class health and educational partners

4Another products and services can be applied to a wide range of aid related services ... the list is almost endless!

Complete control

4Another gives the sponsor complete control over the spending purpose of the money or aid that is given.

4Another solves problems currently experienced when transferring money to developing countries, using state of the art identification or RFID technology and the Internet to ensure that:

- money reaches the correct destination
- money is used for the correct purpose
- money remains with the intended recipient.

4Another ensures that a donation gets to the right people, for the right purpose, safely and securely.

As a sponsor, you have complete control over the target destination of your support.

KNOWLEDGE THROUGH TECHNOLOGY

4Another services are innovative and technology based. This means that they provide organizations and individuals with additional services based on the capacity of technological solutions to store and control data.

4Another uses the CROSS™-platform

The CROSS™-platform is an extensive chain of proven technologies used for registration, authentication and identification. It is based on hybrid solutions such as RFID/NFC and fingerprint, resulting in tailored access control.

Service building blocks

The flexible CROSS™-infrastructure offers the building blocks for a wide range of services, such as:

- Microcredits
- Datamining and extensive reporting
- Payment services
- Access control
- Loyalty programs

4Another is the first launching service using the CROSS™-platform to enable secure money transfer and provide a patient registration system.

Participation and partnership

4Another invites you to join in a sustainable partnership. As a partner you not only have access to the CROSS™-infrastructure, but you help to create a new (support) structure that is and will be ready for the future. Participate, and use the network for your own benefit and that of others.

Who are behind 4Another?

4Another is an initiative of YourConcept and Netco Technologies. Two European firms based in The Netherlands responsible for a broad range of successful implementations within the business scope of internet and mobile payment solutions, mobile ticketing, access control, smartcard projects, eCommerce applications, hosting and security. The CROSS™-platforms patented technology is a result of their innovative skills, expertise and experience.

4Another is also a data mining tool that allows the sponsor, the insurance company and the hospital to get insight in the behavior of the end-user, realizing a complete system for medical record tracking.
